4.6. If no notification is provided by the Customer in accordance with clause 4.5(b) or Sealord (in good faith) disputes the basis upon which the relevant notification has been provided, the Customer shall be deemed to have accepted the relevant Goods and shall have no further claim (and Sealord will have no liability) in respect of the Goods.

4.7. In the event that the Customer provides notification under clause 4.5(b) (in respect of either a type or volume discrepancy or Defective Goods) and such notification is not disputed by Sealord, the Customer's sole remedy in respect of:

(a) any type or volume discrepancy, shall be, at Sealord's discretion, either the issue of an Invoice for only the Goods actually delivered or the supply by Sealord of an additional volume of Goods to ensure compliance with the Purchase Order Confirmation (or, if volumes have not been confirmed in the Purchase Order Confirmation, the order); and

(b) the delivery of any Defective Goods, shall be, at Sealord's discretion, either the replacement of such Defective Goods or a refund of the Price paid by the Customer for the Defective Goods, provided that, if any of the Goods are Defective Goods as a direct or indirect result of the Customer being unable to accept delivery or the Goods having been incorrectly stored by the Customer at the time of delivery, Sealord shall have no obligation to replace or refund under this clause 4.7(b) and the Customer shall indemnify Sealord against all damages, claims, costs, losses and/or liabilities suffered or incurred by Sealord in connection with the Defective Goods (including, if applicable, arranging for transport and disposal of such Goods).

- 4.8. If the Customer is unable to accept delivery of any Goods in accordance with a Contract, Sealord may resell such Goods to a third party and the Customer shall be liable for all damages, claims, costs, losses and/or liabilities suffered or incurred by Sealord in connection with such resale and any storage or other costs incurred by Sealord as a consequence of the Customer's inability to accept delivery.

- 6.2. If the Purchase Order Confirmation confirms (or the parties otherwise agree in writing) that progress payments may be made by the Customer in respect of an order, Sealord shall invoice the Customer at the end of each calendar month (or other period confirmed in the Purchase Order Confirmation or otherwise agreed by the parties, as applicable) for Goods delivered in that month or that period (as the case may be).
- 6.3. Unless otherwise specified in the Contract, the Customer shall pay for the Goods (plus GST, if any, and any other amounts referred to in clause 5.2(b)) on or before the 14th day following the date of the relevant Invoice, time is of the essence.

All costs and expenses incurred by Sealord as a result of such suspension shall be payable by Customer.
- 6.6. Interest at Sealord's bank overdraft rate plus 4% per annum calculated on a daily basis shall be payable on any moneys outstanding by the Customer to Sealord from the date payment is due until the date payment is received by Sealord but without prejudice to Sealord's other rights and remedies in respect of non-payment or late payment. Such interest shall be payable on demand by Sealord.
- 6.7. If the Customer (in good faith) disputes any portion of any amount appearing as payable on any Invoice, the Customer shall immediately notify Sealord of that dispute. Notwithstanding the dispute, the Customer will pay in full the disputed Invoice on the due date for payment under clause 6.3 and any necessary adjustments will be made promptly on the dispute being resolved between Sealord and the Customer.
